The Administration and the Crescent City.

(From the Washington Republic, Nov. 27.)
As the presses in the interest of Mr. George Law persist in their efforts to misrepresent the position of the administration in reference to the conduct of that gentleman and his management of the Cressent City, we have obtained permission to publish following copy of a private letter addressed by the President to the Collector of New York. Mr. Fillmore, it will be seen, expresses the determinaaion we have always attributed to him, to maintain the rights of the country as against Spain, and at the same time to bring into play the full powers of the government to restrain all lawlessness, and all attempts at lawlessness, on the part of any of our

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12, 1852.

Hon. Huga Maxwell, New York City—
Your note of yesterday came to hand this morning, in which you state a conversation you have had with Mr. George Law, from which you learned that the "Crescent City will go to Cubs and enter the port of Havana in de-Sance of the Spanish authority; and if fired upon, she will be surrendered, and that then he and others will immediately commence hostilities against the island." You say, also, that "he derices to know whether he is right in persisting in the pursuit of his lawful business and that if the governmen: shall tell him he must not go, he will not go. If, however, the government says mothing against his going, he will infer he has a right to go." Yoursy, also, that "he professes to be friendly to me and my administration" Of the sincerity of this latter profession one can best judge by reading his letter of the 9th, published in the New York HERALD of the But in regard to the chief matters of your letter, per mit me to say that, in the first place. I do not admit the sight of Mr. Law or any other private citizen, to threaten a war on his own account, for the purpose of seeking re-dress for real or imaginary injuries, and then to call sipon the government to say whether it approves or disapproves of such conduct, and assume its approbation unless the ast is ferbidden. The Constitution of the United States has vested in Congress alone the power of declaring war, and neither the Executive branch of the govern ment, nor Mr. Law, has any right to usurp that power by commencing a war without its authority; and if he chall attempt it, it will be my duty, as it is my determimation to exert all the power confided to the Executive government by the Constitution and laws, to prevent it. I am resolved, at every hazard, to maintain our rights In this controversy as against Spain, and I am equally treed to that no act of our own citizens shall be pertonis an undoubted right to pursue his lawful business; and a foreign nation as to whether the business which he Int when a question is raised between this government is need is lawful, or pursued in a lawful manner, the de-cision of that question belongs to the two governments and not to him. If the object be to assert his right to enter the port of Havana with such persons as he may choose to select, in defiance of the laws and governmen of Spain, he has certainly done enough to present that tion for the decision of the governments of Spain and the United States; and the negotiation has already commenced, and our rights, as we understand them have been asserted, and, as I said before, will be be controlled by the interference of any individual; and it is entirely unnecessary that Mr. Law should repeat se attempts for the purpose of settling this controversy; and if he wilfully does so, and in so doing violates the thereby loses or forfeits his vessel, he can expect no indemnity for such an act of folly from this government. We regulate the terms and conditions upon which all for cign vessels shall enter our ports, and we fix the penalties for a violation of our laws; and the right to do so we shall never suffer to be questioned by foreigners, and we do not question their's to do the same thing. He must wait the recult of the negotiatious between the two governments. This is a question not to be settled between him and Cuba, nor even between the United States and Cuba, but between the United States and Spain, which alone is respon-

I write in some haste, as the mail is closing; but you are at liberty to make known the contents of this letter to Mr. Law, and to inform him, that as a good citizen, I presume he will not attempt any violation of our neu-trality laws, by attacking Cuba.

I am, truly, yours, MILLARD FIGLMORE. (Signed)

I am, truly, yours,

(Signed) MILLARD FILLMORE.

We understand—and it is due to Mr. Law to say —that, when apprized of the contents of the above letter, he remarked that his intentions in relation to making war upon Cuba had been misunderstood by Mr. Maxwell.

The subsequent course of the Grescent City, guided, it is presumed, by the instructions of the stamphip company, has forced upon the government further action in the premises. Passed Midshipman Davenport has been removed from the command of the steamer; and we believe that no other officer of the navy will be paralised to enter the service of the company so king as its managers adhere to their present passive of converting the visits of their vesself had a marge of anneyance to the Spanish officials. Was the riew of preventing a repetition of the layery which the failure to ensure the delivery of the Bayana mails builted upon the mercautile classes of Cuba and of our own country, the Postmaster General has directed that the mails shall not be again despatched in the Crescen City, or in any other of the company's stemmers which may have Parser Smith on board. In that case the mails will be transmitted to Charleston, and thence by the steamship Isabel to Guta. The Grescent City will thus be stripped of all semblance of official character or patronage. If Mr. Law choose to retain Purcer Smith In board. In that case the mails will be transmitted to Charleston, and thence by the steamship Isabel to Guba. The Crescent City will thus be stripped of all semblance of official character or patronage. If Mr. Law choose to retain Pursers Smith on beard, the Crescent City will sail as a private steamer, commanded by a merchant captain, and having no pretence to claim immunities or consideration as an agent of the government. The authorities of Cuba may deal with it as with any other vessel violating their local laws and regulations, and the consequences will rest upon Mr. Law's head. Our government will stand acquitted by Spain and by this country of all participation in conduct that is calculated and designed to annoy one, and to increase existing irritation in the other. In doing this, the administration does not prevent Mr. Law from the "pursuit of his lawful business." Other merchants and shipowners experience no difficulty in their intercourse with Havana. They go and come without injury or molestation; and they never dream of calling upon their government to protect them from the police regulations of Havana, or to wage war against Spain because her Ouban representative deems certain precautions mocessary to the maintenance of peace on the kisland. If Mr. Law were content with the "pursuit of lawful business," this unpleasant controversy would specify be brought to an end. In fast, however, he claims to be placed by the government above the operation of the laws of Cuba; he aspires to dictate what regulations the Captain General shall impose, and what annul; and he considers himself aggrieved because the government refuses to make his quarrel its own, and so cover with its sanction the insulting and improper demeaner of his officers. The motives that influence Mr. Law we do not pretend to divine. Papers which cannot be suspected of a bias in favor of the administration, suggest that his conduct in the matter is governed by considerations pich to those that have wen him fame as a commercial colossus. They refer to his speculation in muskets, and to the probable domand for his steamers at a large advance upon their actual value, as circumstances that might make a war with Spain desirable to him, however unprofitable to others But of these conjectures we do not speak, for they do not pertain to the points at issue between us. Our aim new is to show that the administration is resolved to fulfil the obligations which it owes to the citizens of the United States and to the government of Spain, and that to the extent of its power it will crush every attempt to compromise the peace existing between the two countries, whether avowed at by the Lopez expedition, or disguised under the pretence of "lawful business," as in the case of the Crescent City.

The President and Mr. Law. The telegraph brings a copy of a letter from the President of the United States, addressed to Mr. Maxwell, Collecter of the Port, in relation to Mr.

Law and the Cuban difficulty. The history of this letter, so far as Mr. Law is concerned, is as follows :-On the 14th inst. Mr. Maxwell addressed a note to Mr. Law, inviting an interview. Mr. Law called at the Collector's office on the same day, and Mr. Maxwell read to him an extract of a letter which he said he had previously written the President, pretending to give the language of an interview on or about the 11th inst. The Collector's letter stated that Mr. Law had said to him, that he should send out the Crescent City, and if the vessel was fired upon she should be surrendered, and he would go to war with the government of Cuba. Mr. Law immediately replied, that he had made no such declaration-that the idea of his going to war with Cuba was nonsense-and that in making a statement to this effect to the President, he (the Collector) had misrepre sented him. That which he did say was, that the Crescent City had gone out, and would land at Havana as usual, and that if she was fired upon and hit, the ship, being unarmed, would be surrendered and the officers and crew remain at Havana as prisoners; and that upon such a question, the country would go to war if the outrage were not redressed or he was mistaken in his estimate of the character and temper of the American people. Mr Maxwell promised to write to the President, and correct his mis-statement. On the following day, (15th inst.) Mr. Maxwell sent to Mr. Law a letter containing these mis-statements, which he had promised to correct, dated back to the 1st November, and a portion of it purporting to be the substance of a letter addressed to him by the President. Of this letter, Mr. Law took no notice, for the reason that so much of it as purported to be the Collector's own letter to the President, he knew to be incorrect, and he thought it not improbable that he may also have mis-stated that of the President; but if he had not, the President's letter was based entirely upon the mis statements of the Collector. Had the President's letter, or a copy of it, been sent to Mr. Law, without the introductory mis-statement of Mr. Maxwell, Mr. Law would at once have replied to it, with the respect due to the chief magistrate of the nation. Mr. Law has had no correspondence with Mr. Maxwell, and preferred not

HAVANA, Nov. 1, 1852
Sim-I have to advise you that Judge Cancklin, who called here on the business of the steamship Crescent City, has come to an understanding with the Captain General on the difficulties lately existing in relation to that ship, which is arranged so that that vessel may enter port, deliver her passengers and mails, receive others in return, and proceed as usual herotofore; but that Captain Porter and William Smith, Esq , shall not land here. I give you this information for your government; and am your most obedient servant,

CONSULATE OF THE UNITED STATES, | HAVANA, NOV. 2, 1852.

H. K. DAVESPORT, Esq., U. S. N.,

Commander of the Grescent City—

DEAR SIR—In your note of this date, you state the cir cumstances which transpired on your arrival in this port, and ask what will be the state of affairs on your return from New Orleans. n laterview with the Captain General, and shall proneed to state the condition of the affair with the Grescent City. You are aware that our Minister to Mexico, Judge Conchilin, and Commodore Newton of the United States Navy, were sent to this island by the government on that

They, it seems, came to an understanding that the Crescent City, on this trip, should discharge her mails and puscengers as usual, but that neither Captain Porter nor Purser Smith, should they be on board, would be permitted to land. As I was absent, you will be better formed of the nature and extent of that agreement by the communication of Mr. Moreland, the acting Consul, which has been handed to you.

I was informed by his Excellency that by agreement
he had only conceded this privilege to the Crescen

City on her passage from New York to New Orleans, and that it did not extend so far as to allow the same liberty on her return from New Orleans, in case Captain Porte: or Purser Smith should be on board, but if she should come here on her return trip, without either of these officers, she would be received without molestation.

I stated to his Excellency that the owners of this line of steamers resided in New York, and it might therefore be impossible to make any change in New Orieans; but this produced no change of determination.

The Captain General has received a letter from the Spanish Minister at Washington, in which the Minister says our Secretary of State assured him in the most positive manner that Mr. Smith should not return in the abip, and authorized the minister so to state to the Captain General This letter was shown to me, and trans lated by Mr. Savage, who was with me. His Excellency expressed much regret that the pledge had not been kept.

I could give no satisfactory explanation of this matter, and remarked to him that Mr. Smith was not an officer of the navy, and the government had, therefore, no power to remove him from the ship.

His Excellency seemed to be fixed in his determination that the ship should be excluded from her usual privi-leges on her return, if Mr. Smith should return in her. not be permitted to enter the barbor. Mr. Savage, who was interpreter, thinks that she was only to be excluded from any communication from the shore, and he is proba-bly right. This, then, I presume, is to be the condition of affairs on your return. It is possible that some despatches mey reach here from Washington, in the mean which will induce a change of determination, but this seems to be improbable. Having fully answered your note, I have the honor to be. your obedient servant,

More Shooting at Sacramento.—Another shooting affair took blaze in a gambing saloon in Sacramento on the 20th uit. The Union says the parties were Thomas Moore and John Lenear, and nine shots were fired with Coit's revoivers. One of the bullets hit a disinterested gentlems a memed Schermerhorn in the left groth, indicting a dang rous wound. Moore is one of the same individuals who was engaged in the affray of Tuceday morning, and under bond for $1,000 for that offence. The crowd about the premiers was so; denses and excited at the time, that it was with difficulty any of the facts connected with the affair could be ascertained. Moore was immediately taken into custody, and removed to the station house.

Streem —A coroner's inquest was held on Saturday upon the body of Mile. Caroline, well known to all the frequenters of the Polka Saloon. The unfortunate young woman came to her death by taking strychnine. The act was caused by some love affair in which she had been engaged, and the vacilet of the jury was in accordance with the above facts.—San Francesco Weig. Nos. 1.

A company on the Marred has taken out more than $2,500 per day for fourteen consecutive days. Many of the companies on Wood's Creez, above Senora, have been using finely for some weeks past. The Fort Washington, dissirably, Murphy's, and other claims in the same neighborhood, are paying better than ever before. The dignies at Murphy's, Caiwerras county, are paying very well at present. A party of three Germans, friends of his lately purchased a claim for fifty dollars, from which they took 107 onnees of gold in three days—Thurrday, Friday, and Saturday of last week. The camp is improving very fact there being at least thirty frame houses in process of erection at the present time. Murphy's promises to be one of the principal towns in the mountains.

The steamship Prometheus arrived last evening from San Juan del Norte, whence she sailed on the 18th inst.

The Prometheus brings the passengers brought down from San Francisco by the steamer Brother Jonathan.

The West India mail steamer Thames was to sail from the Miles and the results from the Hill, has the steamer Brother Jonathan.

The West India mail steamer Thames was to sail from the Miles of the persons who were carrying out the mining regulations in this respect. The latter parties submitted penceably to the arrest, and were taken to Jon the same evening (Friday, 22d inst) a most resulting of miners was hold in the Empire House, which was addrassed by Capt Amyx, G. B. Harris, and Mr. Eddy, at which it was resolved to most the mining to enforce the miners' regulations. Accordingly, next morning (Saturdey,) at 8 o'clock the miners assembled, choose Capt Amyx as their leader, and went through all the Ohinese camps in the Jacksonville mining district, summarily expelling the Chinese whether the pricents above mentioned were discharged, there being no testimony forthcoming to convict them of any of fence against the law.

Mequelument Hill and the righ mining country around it will be watered, it is confidently hoped, by the Moque limine Capt and Mining Company, who expects to have their works in full operation towards the latter end of December. Should they be disappointed in their expectations they will at all evenis be enabled to afford a supply of water, in continuation of that derived from the raise.

San Addres, distant about ten miles from the Hill, has San Andres, distant about ten miles from the Hill, has two ditches for supplying its rich placers. One brings in the water from Willow Greek, and traverses a section of country but very little worked, and which abounds in rich gold deposits. The other is from the stream known as hiurray's Branch, one of the tributaries of the Calaveras. There will afford an abundant supply, and the claims are generally taken, and piles of earth thrown up along the line.

Angell's Camp derives its supply from the creek, which will be further increased by the great canal running from the Stanishaus. The mining ground around this camp is not surpassed by any in the country.

Murphy's Camp derives its supply from the same sources. This creek has afforded sufficient water during the number to work a few toms, and will, of course, be the means of great employment during the winter. The Morphy's canal will supply a district of country hitherto untouched by the pick and shoved, and which will afford constant occupation for numberless hands.

Turning towards the north, we find Volcano well supplied by Sutter's Creek, while in the guilch they will have more than they want. Clinton and Secreto are well watered by the south branch of Jackson Creek, and on the middle branch are placers that will richly repay labor. Jackson's rich resources are provided for by both streams, by which an immense amount of gold will be turned out. The vicinity of Sutter derives ample means of washing from its own creek; while Amadore, Rancheria Dry Greek, and other camps, will be abundantly supplied by their respective streams. Dryfown this year, will have the additional advantage of the Cosumes canal, which will promote the interests of the miners, and be most beneficial to the surrounding country.

Altogether, the prospect of winter diggings is better this year than it has ever been, and we do hope that miners will, in a great measure, be r

The steamer Columbia arrived at San Francisco, with dates from Oregon to the 23d Oct.

A large number of emigrants had arrived at Portland from the plains, on the 16th and 16th Oct.

The Oregonies is informed by a gentleman who left the Grand Ronde on the 1st Oct., that there were at that time between three bundred and four hundred wagons that had not then reached that place, and from the Ronde to the Dalles there were from four hundred to are hundred. Very few of the immigrants had a particle of flour, and were obliged to live almost entirely upon such beef as they could get by killing their cattle.

Adam E. Wimple, who was convicted of the murder of his wife, suffered the extrame penalty of the law, in Polik county on the 8th inst. Previous to his execution as made a full confession, which was read by the Sheriff.

The Statesman Informs us that the citizens of Oregon City and Milwankie together have raised about $1.000 to be expended in the purchase and forwarding of supplies for the immigration; that large numbers were constantly arriving at the Dalles—their teams exhausted—themselves destitute of means and in a helplese condition, and the place not affording shelter or counterts for the sick; and that the supplies already sent for their assistance will relieve their distress in a measure, but will be entirely imalaquate to the end desired. The suffering and privation among them, as represented, is truly dreaful.
